

LATE CITY NEWS FOUND

By the Reporters on Their Round of the Town.

State Items—Western News—General Notes—Laundry—Hotel—Etc.

They are Coming.

Already the tide of emigration has set in and every day finds quite a number of eastern people looking over our country with a view to locating. They are impelled by the approaching winter to seek homes in milder climes and as the advantages of the favored Willamette valley are becoming known to the world we are securing our share of the influx. This is exactly what is required to develop this country. We need people. When it is once known what great advantages we have and what great inducements are held out to the home-seeker it is no wonder we should receive our proportion of the army of emigrants. Those who stay long enough to see what we have, are sure to remain permanently.

The New Chemekete.

On November 1st Messrs. Bell and Monroe assume control of the Chemekete hotel in this city. Their lease is for four years, and they propose at once thoroughly refitting and refurbishing the building from cellar to garret. The kitchen will be remodeled to their plans, as will also other parts of the building. The rooms will be re-papered and painted and furnished with new carpets and furniture. The managers propose that no stone shall be left unturned to make it the most convenient and best equipped hostelry in the state.

Oregon Fruit in the East.

A Portland man will ship a carload of apples to Prescott, Arizona, which will pass almost the entire length of the state of California. That is nothing new for Oregon apples, which now not only find a market in many of the neighboring states and territories, but also in China, Japan and Australia. Oregon has always had a reputation for apples since the first trees were planted here, which is within the memory of men living, and this reputation is spreading further abroad every year.

A Great Timber Scheme.

A company of Albany men have located about 1500 acres of timber and agricultural land on the line of the Oregon Pacific, about twenty-two miles above Mehama. Some of the land will be taken as homestead by those of the company who were soldiers, and have but a short period to live upon it, and a portion of it will be bought as timber land. The land has fine timber upon it, and it is the intention of the company to take in a portable saw mill, also to start some fruit ranches.

The machinery will be here in a few days. This is an institution Salem has long been in need of, and it should have the full support of our citizens.

Prof. Parvin is the director and teacher and is doing a good work. Great progress is being made by the Union and the individual members.

Points About Potatoes.

The potato crop in this section of the country has proved to be a failure, at least those dug before the rain. The most of the farmers dug all of their early potatoes and some of their late ones before the rain and the greater portion of them are rotting. Potatoes, in order to make them keep well, should have a good rain on them just before they are taken out of the ground. It preserves, in one sense of the word, and they hardly ever fail to keep. There are a great many potatoes that are effected on the stem end; whether or not it is caused by having such a long dry spell is hard to tell, but the general opinion is that it is. Oregon has never failed in her potato crop. California looks to Oregon for a good portion of her seed and if the potatoes in this state fail California will have to look in some other direction for a good portion of their seed.

W. S.

DAYTON, Ogd., Oct. 21-88.

A special from Franklin, Ky., says: "Yesterday morning two well-dressed strangers arrived in this city on the early train and inquired the way to an old steam mill that was operated by a man named Whitesides, and procuring a buggy at the livery stable they went out to the mill and spent the entire day in digging up the earth in various places. They returned to the city about night and left on the first train. They told Whitesides that they were from St. Louis, and if their business here turned out profitable they would reward him for his pains in giving them directions and assisting them. They did not state what their mission was to any one, but some of the country folks, seeing their strange actions, surmised that there was some hidden treasure about the old mill, and a man named Hendricks went out this morning with a pick and spade, and after digging for some time finally unearthed an old keg with $2,700 in gold carefully packed therein."

SCREPEE COURT.

SALEM, Oct. 23, '88.

State of Oregon, respondent, vs. C. M. Harding, appellant, appeal from Multnomah county, judgment of the lower court affirmed; opinion by Strahan, J.

On motion of Richard Williams Jno. M. McCollum was admitted upon certificates from the supreme courts of Kentucky and Idaho to practice in all the courts of this state.

Geo. A. Hartman, respondent, vs. Jno. N. Young, appellant, appeal from Umatilla county, argued and submitted. W. M. Ramsey attorney for respondent, Jno. C. Leasure and Richard Williams attorneys for appellant.

A Contented Man.

Joseph Berry, of Kings Valley, in Polk County, has been on his present place for thirty-five years, and has never been away from it out of the county. He got his start by making 400,000 shingles with frow and draw knife, and now says he don't want to find any better country to live in, for his neighbors are peaceable and kind, and his land, instead of deteriorating, raises better crops than it did twenty years ago. This year's wheat crop in that vicinity has averaged about twenty-five bushels to the acre, and no farmer who has given his soil a fair chance has any reason to complain of short crops in any line. They can raise fruit equal to the best, and their climate is good enough. —Pacific Farmer.

It is perhaps not generally known, but nevertheless it is a fact that the law forbids a pensioner, bargaining, promising, or selling his quarterly pension before it comes due; and upon the other hand all persons are forbidden to accept the same in any manner, as security or otherwise. The fine is fixed at $100 for any violation of the act, and is equal upon the soldier and dealer.

Something About Daddy Nolan.

Daddy Nolan is a new play presented by Mr. Daniel Sully, at Pastor's Theater. We cannot give a better expression of it than to say it is "hang up." It is full of humor and pathos. Humor prevails, and it is of that sort which brings tears to the eyes. Mr. Sully is a forcible and natural delineator of Irish character in its various moods, and perhaps the most truthful—that is, with less exaggeration—that is to-day presented on the stage. The various stage pictures are artistic and complete. The company throughout is capable. Some very neat glee singing assists the piece in its social treatment. Daddy Nolan will wear well. —New York Telegram.

Now in possession of a new discovery in medicine, which is purely a local anesthetic, and acts almost instantaneously on the surrounding tissues of the teeth. It is in no way injurious or unpleasant to the taste. The manufacturers of it claim that its equal has never been known before, and by applying it to the sensitive or sore teeth, they can be cleaned and filled without pain. So all those that want all kinds of dental work done without pain, would better call on Dr. H. Smith. Teeth extracted for 50 cents.
